

FRANC BELOW NICKEL, FASCISTS IN ACTION

Anxious Government Keeps
Watch as Franc Closes Near Five Cents.

PARIS, Oct. 2.—(AP)—The devalued franc closed at 21.45 to the American dollar tonight while the anxious government of Premier Leon Blum worked to keep the political peace of the nation over the militant defiance of Colonel Francois de la Roque and his "Social party."

De la Roque, former chief of the "Croix de Feu"—cross of fire—now dissolved, ordered his followers in the "Social party" to hold protest meetings throughout the land tomorrow against a government order of criminal investigation of the group.

Four thousand mobile guardsmen were ordered to remain in Paris tonight after Colonel De la Roque declared "enemies of the people" might unleash a civil war in France.

The political foes of de la Roque, mainly the Socialists and Communists, charge that his new party is only a camouflaged reincarnation of the banned Croix de Feu, an organization of Fascist tenets.

With disturbances feared from possible Socialist-Communist attempts to break up de la Roque's meetings, the government watched with equal anxiety the movement of the armed franc on its first day in the open international markets.

The government apparently was content to let the franc find its own level, fluctuating between the limits of 49 and 43 milligrams of gold content established by parliament.

Guarded against possible foreign "raids" on the franc by a 10,000,000,000-franc stabilization fund, leaders indicated they would wait a while before definitely fixing the value.

The Bank of France lowered its discount rate from 5 to 3 per cent, and financial quarters declared this was a move to make "easy money" available after last Thursday's increase of the discount from 3 to 5 per cent in the government's effort to shut off a gold drain.

Film Beauties Threaten To Strike Against Debs
SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Oct. 2.—(AP)—A group of Hollywood screen beauties on location here threatened to leave their jobs today as a result of the hiring of a score of wealthy local society girls in extra roles.

The professional actresses, extra and "bit" players, said they believed the film extra roles should go to unemployed Hollywood girls. Frank Tuttle, director, said he had noticed open enmity between the professional players and the local girls and had taken steps to avoid any clash.

The debutantes, through their spokesman, Margaret McDougal, asserted indignantly an actress had just as much right to work as anyone else.

"What if we don't need the money," asked Miss McDougal. "This 'rich heiress' stuff gives me a pain. Anyway, our salary goes to charity."

Aimee's Mother Threatens Expose Of Kidnaping to Aid Granddaughter

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Blond Aimee Semple McPherson pleaded tonight for a "peaceful settlement" of the latest family row at Angelus temple.

Tomorrow night the three trustees of the Echo Park Evangelistic Association, the controlling body at the temple, will vote on how much authority the new business manager, Giles Knight, is to have—the question that brought the squabble into the open.

Mrs. McPherson is supporting Knight. Her daughter, Roberta Semple, opposes him. The third trustee is Sister Aimee's other child, Roy McPherson. He has said he would stand by his mother.

Mrs. McPherson's mother, Mrs. Minnie (Ma) Kennedy, entered the fray on Roberta's side by declaring that her "whole resources and very relative memory" are at the disposal of her granddaughter.

Charging that Mrs. McPherson's jealousy of her daughter's suitor started the present trouble, the evangelist's mother said:

"I am prepared to throw the whole force of my resources and my very retentive memory on the side of my granddaughter in this matter, and am prepared, if necessary, to take court action to protect Roberta against mismanagement of her affairs."

She spoke of the kidnaping episode 10 years ago when Mrs. McPherson disappeared for several weeks, later telling authorities she had been abducted and held captive in Mexico.

"Aimee begged at that time for mercy because of her children," declared Mrs. Kennedy. "She garnered in countless thousands of dollars by picturing to her congregation pitiful scenes of little Roberta hiding in the cellar in shame because of newspaper headlines about her mother."

"Now that same mother all but repudiates her own child, and largely because she is jealous of the man by whom Roberta is being courted."

"I charge her with wilful neglect of her sick daughter," said Mrs. Kennedy, who split with Mrs. McPherson several years ago, "and of maliciously attempting to coerce and intimidate Roberta to do her bidding by making threats against the man Roberta loves."

After an attempt at reconciliation during which certain terms were specified, Roberta was quoted as telling her mother "You have made it impossible for me ever to return to the temple."

The present dispute began recently when Roberta charged her mother with attempting to give Knight dictatorial authority.

MARINE IS EXECUTED IN HOLDUP-SLAYING
FLORENCE, Ariz., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Roland H. (Jerry) Cochran, former United States marine who served in the Nicaraguan rebellion, calmly went to his execution in the lethal gas chamber at the state penitentiary at dawn here today in payment of a $240 holdup slaying.

Cochran, decorated for war service by the Nicaraguan government and by his own country, entered the lethal gas chamber at 12:55 a. m. (Atlanta time). The deadly cyanide gas was dropped into a pan beneath his chair at 4:57 a. m. and Dr. B. L. Steward, prison physician, pronounced him dead seven minutes and 40 seconds later.

Cochran was convicted nearly two years ago of having shot and killed Richard Giles, Chandler, Ariz., cattle buyer, in a Phoenix holdup.

"MORE OF THE SAME"
IS WEATHER FORECAST
Today's weather will be a near-replica of yesterday's, according to the weatherman.

Partly cloudy skies, no rain, the mercury climbing from about 59 degrees this morning to a stop of 72 this afternoon—there it is.

No rain is in sight over the weekend according to the forecasters. The clouds that are marring the sky carry no immediate threat, they say.

Yesterday the mercury started at 59 in the morning and reached 74 degrees during the afternoon.

REPORTERS NEAR END OF FIRST LEG OF TRIP

KIERAN REVEALS
COST OF TRAVELING

What does it cost to travel around the world by the fastest modern commercial transportation available?

Leo Kieran reports these expenditures for the first leg of his globe-trotting trip, the flight from Lakehurst, N. J., to Hamburg aboard the dirigible Hindenburg: $12, fees for passports and visas; $6, fare on American Air Lines bus, New York to Lakehurst; $400, fare on the Hindenburg, plus $5 for federal tax; total, $423.

Subsequent expenditures will be reported by Mr. Kieran from day to day, with a final checkup, to include incidentals, at the conclusion of his journey.

ON BOARD THE DIRIGIBLE HINDENBURG, Oct. 2.—(By Wire)—This, the second night out from Times Square, brings near the end of the first leg of this reporter's dash around the world.

The Hindenburg is expected to land at Hamburg, Germany, about noon Saturday, Oct. 4, and to continue on to Italy, where I hope to connect with one of the scheduled flights of Imperial Airways.

Two days on the sea have been more like a trip on a yacht than anything else, with close friendship among all the passengers and the crew. It is unlike a journey on an airplane or ocean liner, the count of excessive excitement and rough seas.

Antonio Stessman, a veteran passenger on Zeppelins since 1932, holds that this method of travel is good for 10 years over that of airplanes for ocean travel.

Most noticeable among the passengers is an entire lack of apprehension and the implicit trust in the command despite the knowledge of storm warnings to surface vessels in the area. This trip has demonstrated the ability of Zeppelins to fly in a great circle regardless of the weather.

At 3 p. m., ship time (10 p. m., Atlanta time) we passed directly over the Norwegian steamer, John Barke. The Hindenburg dipped her nose in salute and the ship dipped her colors in reply.

The exact time of our landing at Hamburg is uncertain, but all preliminaries have been attended to. Our last gathering in the speaker's room was a joyous one, with all passengers joining in song to the accompaniment of the salon's piano. Although word was received on board of damage to surface ships in the storm, the Hindenburg sailed majestically overhead.

At 4 p. m., Atlanta time, I was 3,014 miles from Times Square on my trip of some 22,000 miles around the world, which I hope to complete in less than 21 days using only established means of transportation.

SPEEDING REPORTERS BET ON WORLD SERIES
ABOARD AIRSHIP HINDENBURG, Oct. 2.—(UP)—Germany's mightiest Zeppelin unleashed a terrific spurt tonight in a battle to reach their destination by tomorrow morning in time for three New York reporters to catch a Rome-bound plane on their 22,000-mile race around the world.

Mindful that they could do little about the speed, H. R. Ekins, of the World-Telegram; Leo Kieran, of the North American Newspaper Alliance; and Dorothy Kilgallen, of the New York Evening Journal and the International News Service, wirelessly for World Series scores, betting on results.

The World-Telegram sent them details of the second game.

TOP PARTY PLATFORM

was not written in its final form, nor were its tenets made public, it is understood there is no mention of the constitutional amendments to be voted on in the November 3 general election except the controversial old-age pension proposal, the fate of which is in doubt.

Committee Personnel.
Serving on the platform committee here yesterday with Chairman Peabody were Marion Smith, of Atlanta; Judge J. B. Jones, of Gainesville; Dr. J. B. Kennedy, of Statesboro; former Attorney General Warren G. Grier, of Macon; Tom Clemmons, of Rome; O. E. Petty, of Columbus, secretary of the Georgia Federation of Labor; J. Mangham, of Bremen; H. Dixon Smith, of Columbus; J. Harold Saxton, of Quitman, president of the Georgia Education Association; and Dr. J. M. Smith, of Valdosta.

Other members of the committee working on the platform are Henry T. McIntosh, of Albany; Senator J. J. Flynn, of Griffin; Mayor James A. Fort, of Americus; J. K. Gholston, of Comer; and H. W. Flournoy, of Cedarburg, chairman of the directing board of the Big Four railroad brotherhoods in Georgia.

The full personnel of the committee to serve under Mr. Miller, Captain Hitch and Mayor Arnold will be named today.

Governor-designate Rivers was in the city for a short time yesterday, but left for his home in Lakeland before the committee session opened in the office of Chairman Reid.

Pension Issue.
The platform is understood to call for action on old age pensions as soon as possible, and there were reports yesterday that in order to aid the old people until a legally adopted amendment may be made to the constitution, the state department of public welfare will be provided with funds to care for as many old people as possible.

Although he still retains the reputation of the 1925 convention, Governor Smith had become so allied with the Raskobos, the Davises and other reactionary Democrats that I could not give my support to Governor Smith.

Flays Accusers.
"The efforts of the Republican leadership and privileged interests to brand President Roosevelt as a communist are utterly ridiculous. President Roosevelt's entire record is proof to the contrary. Because he is insisting on social and economic justice for all the people there is no ground for this insidious slander. The very people who now call him a communist held him as a great American statesman when early in his administration he saved the banks, the railroads, the in-

U.S. Railroads Spend $600,000,000 For Fuel, Supplies, Replacements

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—(AP)—The nation's railroads today figured they had spent almost $600,000,000 in American markets in the first eight months of 1936—a six-year buying record.

The purchases were the heaviest, said the magazine Railway Age, since 1930.

During the eight months ended August 31, expenditures by railroads for materials, supplies and fuel and the value of orders placed by them for new locomotives and cars reached the imposing sum of $97,000,000, the publication added.

It was estimated that $341,577,000 went for materials and supplies and $58,987,000 for equipment—a total of $400,564,000 for manufacturers. The remaining $166,436,000 went for coal and fuel oil.

Little if any of the amount, a spokesman pointed out, was expended in the United States.

Orders placed with manufacturers were calculated at 61 per cent greater than during the corresponding period of 1935; 22 per cent larger than during the same period of 1932 and 1933 combined; and 18 per cent ahead of the first eight months of 1931.

However, they fell 32 per cent under the total for the first two-thirds of 1929.

While equipment orders fell below the corresponding figures for 1929 and 1930, Railway Age said, "they came within $25,000,000 of equalling the totals for the first eight months of all the previous five years combined."

The $597,000,000 spent in the first eight months of this year compared to these expenditures in the same periods of recent years: 1935, $423,232,000; 1934, $485,757,000; 1933, $280,746,000; 1932, $307,642,000; 1931, $531,275,000; 1930, $882,862,000; 1929, $1,146,912,000.

"Purchases from manufacturers are now averaging 60 per cent larger than in 1935 and over 100 per cent more than in 1933," the publication said. "These purchases are being financed out of current earnings."

Insurance companies and other important elements of our financial structure and it was not until he turned to save the farmers, the working people, and those who were losing their homes and farms through no fault of their own that he became so obnoxious to vested interests.

"I have no sympathy with the attacks which are being made upon President General Farley and the malicious propaganda directed against him. He has made a good postmaster general and he has the charge that he has destroyed the merit system in the government, the postoffice department has never in its history given greater recognition to the merit system than it does today."

"I am delighted with the honor and the privilege of walking back into the Democratic party as Governor Smith walks out of it."

basis are necessarily inaccurate and useless for practical purposes."

Noting that the employment survey disclosed a shortage of skilled labor in several trades due to virtual absence of apprentice training during the depression, O'Leary predicted that skilled help would command higher pay in the future.

During executive sessions the board also heard proposals for repeal of the surtax on undistributed earnings of corporations and for balancing the federal budget next year by a cut of $500,000,000 in government expenditures.

Best Outlook in Five Years.
Declaring the significance of the efforts toward international monetary stabilization was unquestioned regardless of differences of opinion as to the necessity of the action, the committee said there was a basis for confidence in the outcome.

"Success of the indicated policies will present a better outlook for world improvement than has offered since the exchanges were disrupted five years ago," the report declared.

"The gentlemen's agreement between the three governments, (United States, Great Britain and France) with other countries joining in the concert of action, is an important example of international co-operation," it added.

"It is an earnest of desire and intention upon the part of leading nations to avoid monetary aggression; it should contribute to a diminution, if not removal of the fear of a currency war between these important countries," the report added.

Demand for a balanced federal budget for the next fiscal year and for repeal of the tax on undistributed profits was presented by Fred H. Claussen, Horicon, Wis., manufacturer.

He said the anticipated increase in government revenues, due to expanding business, and a $500,000,000 cut in expenditures would be sufficient to avoid any increase in the national debt next year.

In proposing repeal of the surtax on undistributed earnings of corporations and a return to a straight tax on their incomes, Claussen declared that "opposition to this tax continues to gather momentum."

TVA-UTILITY DEADLOCK HALTS POWER PARLEY

Government and Power Officials Unable To Reach Contract Agreement.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP)—A temporary deadlock over extension of the contract between the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Commonwealth & Southern Corporation today appeared to have ended immediate negotiations between officials of the two groups.

They sought to clear the way for extension of a power pool in the southeast to co-ordinate generation and distribution of electric power, but after two days of negotiations, the principals had left the city today with no indication an agreement had been reached.

Those close to the situation, however, were strong in their belief some type of extension would be arranged to permit time to study the power pool problem. The present contract by which Commonwealth & Southern buys TVA power at wholesale rates expires November 3.

Those participating in the conferences were Wendell L. Willkie, president of Commonwealth & Southern, TVA's biggest customer; Chairman Arthur E. Morgan and Director David Lilienthal, of TVA; James L. Ely, general counsel for TVA, and Louis B. Welle, New York attorney.

Reflection of sentiment today from the various groups summoned by President Roosevelt to study power pooling indicated they were far from agreement in the matter of control of the pool setup.

Sources close to the private utility men indicated a strong distaste for any possible domination of the pool by a federal agency. From other sources had come a suggestion that a suitable arrangement might be the establishment of a central agency to control generation and distribution. One agent named as a possibility was the Federal Power Commission. President Roosevelt had suggested that control could be vested in the participating members of the pool, but he did not indicate what division could be made among federal, municipal and private groups.

EX-ACTOR PREDICTS TELEVISION VIA RADIO
Existence of a modern machine practically ready to popularize television, was revealed here yesterday by J. David Herblin, former stage, screen and radio star and member of New York's famous Lamb's Club.

Mr. Herblin, who was in Atlanta for the 1936 summer season at the old Lyric theater with a stock company, predicts television will soon bring theater scenes and plays into homes by the radio.

Records Fall as Mighty Yankees Even Series With 18-4 Win

Such a lot of topics—
This afternoon, for instance, there will be an advance showing of football styles at Grant field during the Georgia Tech-Seawee game.

You will be surprised to know that stockings, those intimate little items of apparel, are coming back. They will be modeled today by the young men of Mr. William Alexander's football studio.

The stockings are made in color and are made of an extra grade of woolen, knit in ribs, so that the masculine leg, never a lovely object, will be made to appear even more bowlingpinish, or pianolegish, than ever before.

Mr. Alexander has banned the nude and fatted calf. Only on muddy, rainy days will football fans see the leg epidermis of the Georgia Tech players.

The reasons—protection during cold weather and therefore less likelihood of pulled leg muscles, fewer scratches and bruises.

These styles, which once were the vogue in football, will be shown this afternoon at Grant field. Unless, of course, it rains. Which it won't.

At any rate—stockings are back.

And the Seawee Tigers will try to tackle them this afternoon in the second game of Tech's 1936 schedule.

OVER AT ATHENS.

The Furman fever has hit our town. Which means the narrow, curving, slippery, treacherous, dangerous section of road to Athens will be crowded today with speed maniacs trying to be first in Athens for the Furman-Georgia game.

The Furman fever is supposed to have the Georgia team deep in the mullegrubs. And the whisper is going around that the Bulldogs are likely to take it right on the chin this afternoon.

But, shucks, I don't think so. Furman may do it. But there is enough talent on the Georgia squad to win. The football critics will tell you that Georgia would have won from Mercer by a larger score had they run the ends more. They were inclined to blame it on the quarterbacking.

It seemed to me it should have been blamed on the Mercer team, which was playing a good game and coming up fast to tackle at the line.

But there's no telling. There is lots of leg talent in that backfield. Jimmy Cavan, Glenn Johnson, Johnny Jones, Chief Roddenberry, Alf Anderson, Harry Stephens and others can all pick them up and lay them

'APPENDIX PAIN' HURT CONTROL, STATES GOMEZ

Giants Take Defeat Quietly; McCarthy Is Pleased With Score.

By Leslie Avery.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(UP)—Vernon (Lefty) Gomez, who handcuffed the New York Giants today in the second game of the World Series, pitched the last seven innings with a pain darting through his appendix every time he let loose of the ball.

"That's the reason I didn't have any control," he said in the wild and happy Yankee dressing room after the game. "Hell, anybody could have won with 18 runs. I don't deserve the credit."

But even the big siege guns of the Yankees were not so sure about that and ganged about the straining southpaw to hug him, pat him on the back and shake his hands.

"Hell, we knew of Goofy was going to come through," one of them yelled, and cries of "nice goin' Goofy," and "ray for Goofy," echoed through the shower room.

Few seemed to realize that several World Series records had been broken or equaled by Yank batters.

"How does it feel to drive in five runs in a World Series game and set a new mark?" Catcher Bill Dickey was asked.

"Guess I did send in five at that, one on a single, another on that fly, and three with the home run," he said. "But I didn't know it was a record, and guess I'll just have to take your word for it."

TELEGRAM FOR TONY.

There was a telegram in the dressing room awaiting Tony Lazzeri, the boy whose circuit blow came with the bases full. It was from Elmer Smith, former Cleveland Indian player, who hit the only other home run with the sacks loaded in series history, against Brooklyn in 1920.

"Congratulations," the wire read. "I know how you feel. Elmer Smith. I saw it comin' and swung." Tony explained. "It was a fast ball, a little outside and I connected."

Yankee Manager Joe McCarthy was the happiest about the record of 18 runs for a series game. "I knew that if they ever got started against those left-handers, we'd win and they really started swinging after Schumacher was taken out," the little manager said.

"But that is just one game, and remember they have one too, so I'm not making any predictions yet. I'm going to start bumping Hadley tomorrow, but I'm not going to name any hurler for any of the other games yet. We'll just have to wait and see how tomorrow's game shapes up."

Then back to Gomez, who was getting his rubdown. This correspondent learned that he had been suffering from "chronic appendicitis for six or seven years."

"TO TAKE IT OUT," he said. "I'm gonna get the damn thing taken out just as soon as this season is over. I couldn't bend over for the first throw through after letting the ball go on account of the pain, so I had to ease up on my fast ball and start throwing curves."

"I'm most tickled about winning for Joe (McCarthy) because he sure had plenty of confidence in me to let me start that game after the blank black season I've had. He didn't give me any orders on what to pitch or anything," just said, "Vernon, you're going to start that second game."

"Guess I was most careful with Mel Ott," he said in answer to a question. "I wasn't afraid of him exactly, but I just took my time and tried to figure him out because he's like Gehrig. His long hits can hurt you."

Gehrig, who got a couple of hits today, was the happiest of the lot in contrast to his gloominess after the first game. He was yelling, running all over the place, chatting with reporters and having a fine time in general between swigs from a bottle of beer and puffs on his pipe.

GIANTS QUIET. The Giants took defeat quietly. Their dressing room virtually deserted by the newsmen, they were showered and dressed with hardly a word.

Manager Terry said that Gomez had pitched just as he had expected, "three and two ball all the way, but he had the batting behind him this time. I'll say one thing—they sure did give us a good beating while they were here. I had hoped Schumacher would get by, but when he didn't I had to gamble on the southpaw, praying that Gomez would blow up, but he didn't."

"Fitzsimmons will pitch tomorrow, and Rippe is going back in center in place of Hank Leiber," he added, "and I think we'll take 'em. You know it's a funny thing, but I told President Roosevelt I hope to have better luck than the last time I played before him—but I didn't."

McLendon, Y Tigers In Sandlot Battle

The "Y" Tigers, a team in the Roanoke Club sandlot football league sponsored by the Atlanta Y. M. C. A., will open their season this morning at 9 o'clock as they meet the McLendon Avenue Wildcats.

This game will be the renewal of an old feud as the Tigers defeated the Wildcats for the championship of the 10th league last season.

The Tigers will enter the game as the underdogs since they will be without the services of their quarterback who was injured in a practice game Monday afternoon.

Down the Alley

Six of Atlanta's best women bowlers left for Charlotte, N. C., this morning, where they will compete in the southeastern ladies' tournament this afternoon and evening.

The Atlanta entries to the big contest include Mrs. Estelle Warrington, Mrs. Carl Tidwell and Miss Bebe Bangert. On Charlotte, Sarah Gardner and Dot Morris.

Another popular five-game handicap duplicate event will be bowled at the downtown alley this evening at 8 o'clock, with entry open to all bowlers in the city.

Five prizes will be awarded for the five highest scores and no entry fee, other than the cost of games will be charged.

Some of the already entered include C. W. Dennis, G. E. Stokes, D. L. Tigner, Alan Diebler, G. R. French, R. Shus, T. Taylor, C. Tidwell, A. B. Jones, D. Tague, W. F. Robinson, C. E. Berman, H. Their Bats Drive In Record Total of Ten Runs

Until yesterday's 18-4 massacre of the Giants by the Yankees, the most runs a player ever drove home in a World Series game was four. But that was before yesterday. Both Tony Lazzeri, at the left, veteran second baseman, and Bill Dickey, catcher, at the right, were responsible for five runs in the second game of the annual classic. Lazzeri's homer with the bases full marked the second time in World Series history the feat has been accomplished. Dickey homered with two aboard. Surely the Yanks have found their batting eyes. Associated Press photos.

LAZZERI WAITS 10 LONG YEARS

Tony Cashes in on Chance To Wipe Out Big Blot of Past.

By Harry Ferguson.

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(UP)—It has been a weary wait of 10 years and a week for Tony Lazzeri—out of the 1926 World Series—but at 2:44 o'clock this afternoon fate loaded the bases for him and sent him up there to get his glory.

It was a great chance to wipe out the big blot of the past and as the little Atlanta stood there, hunched over the plate and wagging the bat in front of his ankles, everybody's thoughts went back to 1926 and another World Series. The Yankees were playing the St. Louis Cardinals that day and out of the shadows came old Grover Cleveland Alexander to try to silence "Murders' Row." The bases were full, and up there at the plate stood a rookie from the coast league—Tony "Poosh-Em-Up" Lazzeri—with a chance to win game and series with any kind of a hit.

It's an old, old story now and one Tony will never forget—how he stood there, helpless and watched "Old Pete's" fast ball come smacking by.

GOAT IN 1926. "Strike three!" the umpire yelled, and "Poosh-Em-Up" went back to the dugout—the official goat of the 1926 series.

He was older, grayer and slower—he may not be around the big leagues much longer—when he came to bat in the third inning on this sun-spangled afternoon. Now it was Dick Coffman who was out there on the mound in place of "Old Pete" who has gone to the bushes. Fate set 'em up in a generous way.

"Poosh-Em-Up" hunched over the plate—knock-kneed, awkward, anxious—and wagged his bat just as he did 10 years ago. It was the magic moment for the sharp-nosed second baseman of the Yankees. Up went Coffman's arm and the ball headed for the plate. "Poosh-Em-Up's" bat never left his shoulder and the umpire yelled "strike one." The next one was wide. Another one came steaming up and also went wide. On the next pitch "Poosh-Em-Up" swung and fouled the ball. Then he fouled another and settled down for the money pitch.

THERE IT GOES. "Poosh-Em-Up" swung, and the crack of the bat rang sharp and loud. The ball streaked on a level line for the right-field stands. It landed in them for a home run—the second time in history that a man has hit a home run in the World Series with the bases loaded. Elmer Smith did it in 1920 for the Cleveland Indians.

Old "Poosh-Em-Up" sprang for first, then slowed down to a trot as he saw the ball go into the stands. A great grin stretched across his wrinkled, brown face. For his clients sunk into home plate the old man knew that fate—sometimes will do—had evened up the score for him late in his life as a ball player.

PROSPERITY. NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 2.—Prosperity note! Moon Ducote, athletic director of Loyola of the South, reports that that institution has sold more season tickets for 1936 than in any other year in the school's athletic history.

Al Smith Was Hurling; Roosevelt Sat Nearby

But Yankees Lifted the Tension by Hammering Giant Pitcher to the Showers.

By Scotty Reston.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(AP)—President Roosevelt was in the stands and the reporters were inquiring about the political leanings of Vernon L. "Goofy" Gomez.

"I been busy," said "Goofy." "No time for politics. Let's see, the President's a Democrat, ain't he?" It was an embarrassing situation. Al Smith was pitching and President Roosevelt was in a near-by box. But the Yankees took care of it in a hurry. Al took a walk to the clubhouse after pitching to only three batters.

Shortly after the game started, a lazy airplane crawled across the white clouds. It carried a loud streamer which read, "Re-elect Roosevelt. Remember 1932."

Mayor LaGuardia went down and greeted the President. Managers McGarry and Terry also went over and the President joked with them about the game.

Joe Moore, Giants' lead-off man, went hitless his first eight times in the series and then hit a lightning drive into left-center. But Joe DiMaggio made a great running catch of the ball to extend the hitless streak to nine.

Terry is more than leader of the Giants in name. In both series games so far he has got the best of them all. National leaguers, and in the fourth inning, he drove in two runs with a perfect lick to left-center.

There was civil war in the upper left-hand grandstand in the fourth inning when with the bases full, Dick Bartell rifled one into the crowd near the foul line. Yankee fans said "foul!" Giant fans yelled "fair!" But Cy Fierman, a National league umpire, said it was foul and the war was calmed down.

After all the long-range hitting in the early innings, a wag suggested that all spectators in the left and right field stands be supplied at the gate with masks and chest protectors.

Tony Lazzeri's homer—the second home run with bases loaded in the history of the World Series—was as well hit as his drive to center field in the fifth. Leiber had to go back to around the 400-foot mark to drag it down.

Terry said before the game that Dick Coffman would be his first relief pitcher, and he was almost right. Smith only pitched to three men.

Gomez was completely fair to all Giant pitchers. He obliged by striking out for most of them.

An announcement was made during the seventh inning stretch requesting the spectators to remain seated at the end of the game until President Roosevelt and his party had left the park.

YANKS CREATE 12 NEW MARKS

Every American Leaguer Gets a Hit and Scores a Run.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Excluding the "goofiness" record for ball games for all times, the Yankees today shattered a dozen marks in the log of World Series history as they drove Bill Terry and his Giants to the verge of distraction.

Into the book went: 1. Tony Lazzeri equaled Elmer Smith's feat for Cleveland against Brooklyn in 1920 by hitting a home run with the bases loaded.

2. Lazzeri driving in four runs in one inning, also equaled Smith's record.

3. Lazzeri and Bill Dickey each setting a new record for driving in runs in one game, five each, beating the mark previous held by nine players, among them Lazzeri and Babe Ruth, twice.

4. Frank Crosetti equaled the record of Babe Ruth and Earl Combs of scoring four runs in one game.

5. Joe DiMaggio tying the mark Ernie Grzetti and Mel Ott held jointly, making all three putouts in one inning, the ninth.

6. Greatest number of runs ever scored by one team in one game, 18, beating the previous total of 13 three clubs shared.

7. Total of 22 runs for both teams beat the 19 the Yanks and Cubs piled up exactly four years ago.

8. Six runs in the ninth was the biggest ninth-inning rally in series history. The Cubs scored five in 1908.

9. It was the longest game in series history, 2 hours 49 minutes.

10. In or out of the book, it was a team record for runs driven in, for all 18 were belted across.

11. Every Yank got a hit and scored a run.

12.—The Yankees' 14-run margin of victory was the biggest of them all, wiping out the previous margin of 13-2 gained by the Athletics over the Giants in 1911.

They fell one shy of the base on balls record, getting only nine. The Cubs and Yanks worked ten from Detroit and St. Louis respectively in 1909 and 1926.

For driving a man to distraction the Yank must have at least equalled anything ever before done to Bill Terry, whose bullpen was empty at the end, and whose bat was half way up his head as he trotted disgustedly around first base.

CENTRAL HIGH. NASHVILLE, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Knoxville Central High school took advantage of a break in the first half and maneuvered expertly on passes in the second to beat Tennessee Industrial school today, 13 to 0.

breaking spruce ever witnesses in championship competition. With the attack reminiscent of the palmist days of Babe Ruth & Company, the streamlined 1936 Yankees broke or tied at least nine World Series marks.

Gallant Anthony Michael Lazzeri, the veteran second sacker who was supposed to be near the end of the playing trail, contributed the biggest wallop to the record books by belting a home run with the bases full in the third inning, off the relief flinging of right-handed Dick Coffman.

Runs Batted In Record. Besides duplicating an achievement recorded only once before in series annals, by Elmer Smith, of Cleveland, against Brooklyn in 1920, Lazzeri drove home a fifth run with a home fly, in the seventh inning, thereby wiping out a mark for runs-batted-in that he had shared himself with Babe Ruth and six other World Series batters.

Not even this record stood alone for long, however. Catcher Bill Dickey came through with a ninth-inning homer, with two men on, that tied him with Lazzeri for the new record of five runs batted in during a single series game.

Dickey's smash ended the greatest ninth-inning scoring outburst in series history and helped put the Yankees far out in front of any previous run-making records since the big leagues began to wage their World Series warfare 33 years ago.

The Yankees themselves shared the previous record single-game total of 13 runs, registered first by the Athletics against the Giants in 1911, equalled by the Giants against the Yankees in 1921, and tied by Ruth, Gehrig & Company against the Cubs four years ago.

SANDLOT BALL GAME. The current National league champions, by tallying four times with the aid of Gomez's wildness, have set a new total of 22 runs for a single series game, but this was about the only thing they contributed to the wildest and most festive series any series has developed.

By and large, it was a sandlot ball game that needed nothing so much as a keg of beer near each base to make it look like the annual tussle between the married men and the single men at their annual frolic.

The Giants tried five times with no success to find a pitcher capable of checking the rampage of a club that rode a record-breaking wave of bashes to the top of the third man out in the Yankee half of the ninth.

The upshot of all the firing made it clear that the Giants still have a long way to go to win the National league championship before they can check the floodtide of Yankee bashes.

FITZSIMMONS-HADLEY. The warring clans move across the Harlem river to the Yankee stadium tomorrow night, even though Freddy Fitzsimmons, the fat knuckler

Tech Varsity Line Faces Sewanee; Georgia-Furman Toss-Up

APPLEBY WON'T START BECAUSE OF HAND INJURY

Tigers Have Spirited Team. But Can't Cope With Jackets.

By Jack Troy.

Georgia Tech's regular line will start against Sewanee this afternoon at Grant field when the whistle sounds at 3 o'clock, central standard time. But the backfield will not even contain a quarterback if the plans of yesterday are not changed. Two fullbacks and two halfbacks are expected to start with Halfback Lawrence Hays calling the signals. Quarterback Sims is not to start. Unless, of course, Mr. Alexander changes his mind.

Yesterday he announced Dutch Komenan and Hays as the halfbacks with Ernest Thorne and either Dick Beard or Red Collins as the remaining backs. Appleby is not expected to start because of an injured hand.

OTHERS RIGHT. But all the others will be in there. That is to say Jordan and Jones will be at the ends, with Lindsey and Chance at tackles, "Sailor" Nixon and "Cap" Fitzsimons at the guards and Charles Preston at center.

Tech has done no work at all in preparation for Sewanee except to be ready physically. They have done no scrimmage against Sewanee plays because no one knows what plays Sewanee uses unless they are the same ones of last year.

Tech has been getting ready for old Kaintuck. And if Sewanee should come up with a lot of fancy stuff and the power to execute it the Jackets would be bothered considerably.

TIGHT AT FIRST. Sewanee has a spirited team and a courageous one. They are well coached and know the game. But Sewanee is not expected to be any stronger this year than last. And Tech is which means the Tigers will probably hold the Jackets scoreless for a while and then slowly but surely be worn down until the touchdowns begin to come with some frequency. At least that is the hope. A couple of years from now the Tiger is expected to have some football claws. But not this year.

CANT WIN. Sewanee brings a team which is light and lacking in numerical strength. The tackles are reported strong with at least two backs present who can give some trouble. But unless Coach Hector Clark has grossly deceived us, the team can't win.

For Tech this is the last of the so-called "warm-up games." Presbyterian was sunk last week 55 to 0. Sewanee is followed by Kentucky, which game is the key game to the season. Defeat would give the team a terrific setback.

There is an innovation for the afternoon. Tech has gone back to stockings for the players. They used to be the style but for years the bare legs have been the vogue. The boys wore stockings yesterday in practice.

The Sewanee team arrives this morning. Sewanee colors are purple and white. The game is at 3 o'clock.

Tigers Bring 25 Players. SEWANEE, Tenn., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Sewanee's Tigers hustled today through the last drill before opening their season tomorrow against Georgia Tech.

The squad, in perfect condition, went through a fast signal session. Coaches Clark and Lincoln arranged to leave tonight with 25 men—five ends, four tackles, four guards, two centers and ten backs.

Barton-Crews Reach Finals; Kirby Says Take Your Pick

By Dorothy Kirby.

CANOEBOOK COUNTRY CLUB, SUMMIT, N. J., Oct. 2.—I did some hard pulling this afternoon for the southern girl, Kathryn Hemphill, but it didn't do much good. She was beaten on the 16th green by 4 up and 2 to play. Hemphill was not playing her short shots very well and nearly every putt was going right over the lip of the cup, but she made a gallant fight against a much more experienced golfer. Crews is poisonous when she is anywhere around the green. It leaks as if there is nothing to it. She just bangs it up right at the hole and sinks the putt.

As for the other match, Miley was beaten by 3 and 1. The British champ is just too much for most of them. Pam Barton certainly works on her game all the time. Every time she gets a chance she is out practicing. Anybody who works as hard as she appears to, deserves to win something.

I don't see how any of them ever hit a fairway shot or an iron, because the fairways were just soaked and sloppy as could be. I tried my new camera today and it worked very well, except at the right time. I saw Babe Didrikson this afternoon and had just asked her for a picture, and she was standing all posed and everything, and by George, the darn camera jammed and wouldn't click. Boy, was I mad! I was just ready to throw it into the lake, but I decided to give it another chance.

The finals promise to be very good tomorrow with Pam Barton and Crews. They play 36 holes and one has just as good chance as the other.

Petrels Hold Bears To 20-6 Victory

Puryear Leads 55-Yard March to Opening Touchdown at Albany.

By Jack Troy.

MUNICIPAL STADIUM, ALBANY, Ga., Oct. 2.—There was a dedication tonight, not only of a new and beautiful football bowl but to the courage of an under-manned Oglethorpe football team and the indomitable spirit of Lake Russell, Mercer coach.

The Petrels were beaten, 20 to 6, after putting up one of the most courageous battles ever witnessed on any football field.

The great fighting spirit of Coach John Patrick's eleven made up for a lack of manpower and reserves to make the final outcome doubtful until late in the final period when Alan Bloodworth, the great little Bear sparkling, broke away on a long run, aided by Corona's brilliant blocking, and put the game beyond recall.

The precision and execution of the Petrel play originating out of the smart military shift was one of the really bright spots. And the Bears, who have not lost to the Atlanta school since 1924, were forced to the limit to keep their record going.

RUSSELL COURAGEOUS. Lake Russell was a sick man tonight. Literally he had been running a high temperature all day and should have remained in bed, according to his doctor. But Russell, one of the better coaches in the south, said it took courage to get out of a sick bed and coach his team from the sidelines. The real test, he said, would have come had he been forced to stay away.

Without Lake Russell's guidance tonight, the Bears would have been in a terrible spot. And so there was a dedication to a real coach's courage.

Oglethorpe played the Mercer eleven off its feet at the start, scoring first. The brilliance of Billy Smith, a local boy and Bear quarter, and Alan Bloodworth provided Mercer with the impetus to come from behind, take a one-point lead in the second quarter, and score twice more in the fourth. Puryear, Sullivan, Reynolds, Thomas and Cleburne did a great job of work in the Petrel backfield. Steve Velenick was outstanding on the line.

ROSICH OUTSTANDING. George Rosich was the outstanding member of the Bear line. He was great. Captain Dodd, Hagler and Mattox also played great ball.

Those participating in the dedication of the stadium included Dan Gibson, postmaster; Major W. J. Collins, M. W. Tift, chairman of the Dougherty County Board of Commissioners; Mayor Herb Smart, of Macon, and President Spright Dowell, of Mercer.

A brilliant crowd of better than 6,000 crammed the new stadium to see the first game of college ball ever played here.

BULLDOG STARS OUT OF BATTLE WITH INJURIES

Hartman and Green Definitely Out; Towns To Start Game.

By Ralph McGill.

Georgia's football team will meet Furman's Purple football Hurricane this afternoon on Sanford field at 3:30 o'clock, Athens time, which is 2:30 o'clock by the Atlanta watches.

The Georgia machine, which shifts gears very stiffly as yet, is down in the books to take a humping from the faster-geared Furman machine.

Yet those who have followed the doings of the Athens machine expect it to rise from the depths and outscramble the Furman Purple Hurricane even if they do get blue in the face trying.

There were many injuries in the Bulldog camp all week. The week of jolting hung over the city all week. Bill Hartman is on crutches from a leg hurt. Maurice Green is definitely out.

FURTHER COMPLICATIONS. Further complications were to be found at quarterback where Stubby Young was the only man ready. Both Andy Roddenberry and Wallace Miller were committed to the bench with injuries. Glenn Johnson may put in part time at the signal-calling post.

Andy Anderson is practically certain to be at left halfback on the opening list. An aggravating Charley Hulse line is Harry Cline's possibilities. Johnson may also see service at this position. Paul Causey is not ready either physically or mentally.

Causey is a sure bet to open since Johns will be called upon to do yeoman duty at the fullback post. Tinsley is not able to participate.

At ends Forrest Towns, noted hurdler, and Asa Gaddler were to be given their chances. Both are fully ready. Crenshaw Bonner has a sore shoulder but may see some action. Marvin Gillespie's injured knee will bar him from much activity in the encounter.

LAME TO PLAY. Most of the lame and the halt will be in action. But, as Mr. Harry Mehre woefully points out, there has been no opportunity for these men to practice and even though they can play they will not be in the best of shape.

Dizzy McLeod is no foe to overlook. He is a real coach who turns out hard-hitting, skillful teams. His 1934 team lost to Georgia 7 to 2 and his last-year team stopped the Bulldogs for a full half.

The Bulldogs have a shift this year, involving punt formation, the single and double wingbacks of the Warner system and the old familiar Notre Dame set of plays.

FAVORS FURMAN. The psychology all is with Furman. A victory over Georgia would light the bonfires on the campus and give the team a special place in the Furman hall of fame. Georgia would lose some temporary prestige by a defeat.

Still, it was the Oglethorpe defeat in 1929 which set the Bulldogs going to the state. But Harry Mehre would as soon have that sort of inspiration this year today so that it may go into the L. S. U. game next week and the double wingbacks of the Warner system and the old familiar Notre Dame set of plays.

JURORS WILL PRESENT PLAN OF SEGREGATION

Workable Scheme Is Being Mapped for All State, Says Stanley.

A workable, feasible plan for segregating youthful first offenders from hardened prisoners throughout the state will be presented some time next week to Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy, of Fulton superior court, by the Fulton county grand jury, which was announced yesterday by Elmer L. Stanley, foreman.

The Stanley announcement followed endorsement of the segregation idea, which was advocated during the week by the State Prison Commission, by Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech, and a member of the Federal Prison Industries, Inc., and Dr. J. R. McCain, president of Agnes Scott College.

It occurred concurrently with the suggested payment of small daily wages to prisoners in order to help care for their families. The Rev. H. C. Cooley, commander of the Prisoners' Aid Society, 720 Crew street, S. W., offered the suggestion.

Stanley yesterday said the grand jury is devoting much constructive thought to formulation of a workable plan which could be adopted throughout the state.

"We are conferring with high prison officials, with wardens and with others interested in prison work, and are confident we shall be able to present a feasible program for the next session by the latter part of next week," Stanley said.

"When Judge Pomeroy suggested the segregation of young prisoners from repeaters and older criminals, our grand jury attacked the problem with zeal seldom displayed before. So intensive have our studies that we feel we are accomplishing real good."

The first definite step towards segregation in Fulton county was taken yesterday when the records of 75 sent to prison camps from local courts this week were studied with a view of separating first offenders.

Public Works Chairman Ed. L. Alaman and Warden A. A. Clarke said the first offenders probably will be sent to River camp, while others will be assigned to other camps.

Both Dr. Brittain and Dr. McCain were enthusiastic about the segregation idea, asserting it is a humanitarian plan and will do much to prevent recurring criminal acts by young offenders.

STARHMBERG HITS AUSTRIAN COMMAND

Former Co-Dictator Fighting for Complete Control of Private Army.

VIENNA, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Prince Ernst Rudiger von Starhemberg, once co-dictator of Austria, pressed a determined bid for the return of his political power today, fighting for complete control of the Heimwehr, his private army.

The month-long undercover struggle for Heimwehr supremacy flared into the open when a group of leaders, meeting at Prince Starhemberg's invitation, issued a bitter attack on Major Emil Fey, former Vienna commander, and pledged their allegiance to the aristocratic and youthful Starhemberg.

On the outcome of the fight between Fey, attempting to retain the command from which Starhemberg ousted him in 1935, and the Prince depends a seat in Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg's cabinet, Heimwehr officials said.

The chancellor, it was reported, feels he needs the complete support of all the armed branches, and is ready for a reconciliation with Starhemberg if he has complete Heimwehr support.

The Prince, friend and admirer of Premier Mussolini, of Italy, was vice chancellor under Dr. Schuschnigg until he was ousted last May.

'STARVING' UKRAINIANS REPORT RECORD CROPS

MOSCOW, Oct. 2.—(AP)—The completed wheat harvest, government reports today asserted, yielded a record crop in the Ukraine where the Germans press a few weeks ago reported food riots.

"Notwithstanding unfavorable weather conditions, the collective farms of the Ukraine produced a large grain harvest, exceeding the yields of all recent years," Communist party secretaries informed the government in messages to Dictator Joseph Stalin.

Lazarus M. Maganovich, chairman of the All-Union Peasants Congress, and Vyacheslav Molotov, president of the Council of Ministers.

Officials attributed the bumper crop to the use of 14,000 combines which speeded up the reaping and reduced losses in the fields.

The Ukraine state farms, at the same time, reported a harvest of 50 per cent more grain than last year.

MRS. CLAUDE SWANSON TO CHRISTEN CARRIER

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Mrs. Claude A. Swanson, wife of the secretary of the navy, will christen the giant aircraft carrier Enterprise at a launching ceremony at 12:40 p. m. here tomorrow.

The vessel, weighing approximately 16,800 tons, will be the heaviest at the time of launching ever set afloat at the plant of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company. She will weigh about 20,000 tons when completed.

Members of Mrs. Swanson's party will include: Mrs. Frank J. Fletcher, of Washington, and Mrs. A. C. Young, of Richmond, who will serve as matrons of honor; Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Mrs. Albert N. Niblack, Admiral and Mrs. Alfred Johnson, Captain and Mrs. John B. Beardsall, and Douglas Hall, of Washington.

DR. BAILEY TO SPEAK AT OPEN-AIR MEETING

Dr. Ambrose Bailey, of Lowell, Mass., is scheduled to speak today at the final open-air meeting in the National Preaching Mission program conducted by the Salvation Army, to be held at the corner of Brown and Walton streets, from 12 to 12:45 o'clock.

Brigadier Ernest R. Holz will preside and two Salvation Army bands will furnish music. From 1,500 to 2,000 people have attended the two previous noonday meetings on Thursday and Friday. Captain Jack Malcom has roped the street from traffic for these meetings.

Special Senate Gallery Guardian Lauds State's Support of Roosevelt

Colonel R. D. Elkins, Visiting Here En Route to Texas Home, Declares Political Fate Holds Nothing for Republican Nominee.

Colonel R. D. Elkins, the man who guards the door to the special gallery of the senate chamber in Washington, was in Atlanta yesterday, singing praises of Roosevelt, the New Deal and Georgia.

Colonel Elkins had stopped over in Atlanta for a day to visit friends. He will continue his journey to Oklahoma City, his home, this morning.

"Your recent election proved that the intelligent electorate of Georgia was not for sale, and all Democracy—all the nation—is proud of the way in which you showed your colors," the little 57-year-old Choctaw Indian, whose black hair is slowly turning gray, declared.

He praised Georgia's senators, saying the two senators from Georgia rank very high in the nation's circles of statesmen. They are polished, gentle and honest in all their relations.

On Governor's Staff.

"Colonel" is not just a title of affection that the senators have given him. Elkins is a colonel on the staff of Governor E. W. Marland, of Oklahoma. He is the man who does the special entertaining for Oklahoma senators in the senate boxes—and no one can come in unless he gives the word, either.

La. Roosevelt, the colonel sees the nation's salvation, "the only hope of the common man." And should Landon be elected, well, Colonel Elkins says in that case we should all leave "quick" if we would escape the chaos that is sure to follow.

"There really is no hope for this man Landon. Why, if he were elected, there is no possible way by which he could get a majority of the house and senate on his side. He would truly be a cowboy all ready for a ride, but with no horse to mount."

The vacationing doorman spoke on every subject imaginable. Getting back to politics, he said:

Political Interest.

"There is very little interest manifested in the east towards the results of the election because of the preponderance of opinion that President Roosevelt will be elected by over 300 electoral votes. Our Republican friends are hard put for campaign issues. Governor Landon is surrounded by Tories on one side, while on the other are liberals. The Governor is so harassed by his followers, he cannot make up his mind which side should be admonished to cease 'kicking his houn' dog around.' With him it is, do or don't."

Colonel Elkins has done a little of everything. For a long time he was a newspaperman in Choctaw county, Texas. He has been connected with the Oklahoma delegation in congress for the past 25 years. During his long stay in the capital he has noted the change of delegations from the beginning of Oklahoma statehood to the present.

His grandfather was a native Georgian and a reader of The Constitution. The colonel vividly recalled sitting on his father's knee in his Texas home and being read the writings of Uncle Remus in The Constitution. Elkins says he has never been without the paper and said he greatly enjoyed Frank L. Stanton's column.

And with a cheery, "Democracy and the poor man are safe with Roosevelt," the colonel departed.

STATE CHIROPRACTORS TO ELECT HEADS TODAY

Officers of the Georgia Chiropractic Association will be elected at the final session of its fall convention this morning at the Piedmont hotel. Talks will be made by Dr. A. J. Unthank, Atlanta, and Dr. William E. Brown, Newnan.

Co-operative effort among chiropractors and effective business methods were stressed during the convention. Among the speakers on the program were Dr. Michael Gershon, Atlanta; Dr. O. L. Shaw, Tifton; Dr. A. H. Kessler, Birmingham; Dr. J. R. Wright, Augusta; Dr. H. E. Stanford, Atlanta; Dr. L. J. C. Williamson, Carrollton, and Dr. F. A. Strobel, Thomasville.

BAPTIST BOARD NAMES 7 NEW MISSIONARIES

The Baptist Home Mission Board, in monthly session Thursday, appointed seven missionaries, four of whom are replacements, and approved the opening of new work in four fields.

The new missions, two by Louisiana and two in Texas, and the new missionaries are being aided by means of income from the Birmonts trust fund from other designated money, Dr. J. B. Lawrence said.

The board also set aside $70,000 to be applied on indebtedness. This money over $90,000, owed by the board on the principal of its debt this year, according to Dr. Lawrence.

Tiny Plane Lands in Downtown Plot, Folds Wings and Drives Off.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP)—A tiny airplane which can fold its wings and scoot along the highway at 25 miles an hour like an automobile whirled down to an almost vertical landing today on a small, grassy plot in downtown Washington.

The autogiro was "set down" in an acre-and-a-half park on Pennsylvania avenue adjoining the Commerce Department building.

After a crowd had looked it over, the silver rotor blades which are its wings, were folded back, gears were shifted and the machine rolled out onto the streets under its own pilot.

A turn around the block, through traffic, with stops and starts at signal lights, brought it to the front entrance of the Commerce building.

It has a minimum air speed of 20 miles an hour and is designed to take off in less than 150 feet, with no wind.

When traveling on the ground, power is diverted to the plane's rear wheels through a system of gears.

Unusual Party for Bridal Couple Takes Form of Trial at Court

By Sally Forth.

SALLY FORTH could not resist appearing this morning to report to her readers the result of the Meador-Willingham trial held last evening when tall, dark and handsome Dr. Irvin Willingham was found guilty in the first degree in the lawsuit involving himself and his fiancée, Fort Scott Meador, whose marriage occurs next Saturday evening. It was quite a trial, but instead of taking place in the halls of justice, the court was called to order in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Mason Lowance in the Ponce de Leon apartments.

Herschel Crawford discarded his medical robes for those of a barrister, and as judge called the court to order after the following indictment was read by the clerk:

"One Irvin Willingham has feloniously and intentionally, with malice aforethought, persuaded, induced and coerced Scott Meador, an innocent, trusting and inexperienced girl, against her will, into making divers promises whereby the said Willingham would marry the said Scott Meador."

Eugene Gunby, the prosecuting attorney, added more laurels to his crown of legal achievements when he hurried charge after charge against the defenseless Dr. Willingham, who, however, was saved from the electric chair by the eleventh-hour protection of one Dr. B. L. Shackelford, whose testimony proved that Miss Meador was a party to the agreement.

Judge Crawford issued the following charge:

"Ladies and Gentlemen: You have heard the indictment in this case wherein the said Willingham has been charged with making various and sundry promises upon false pretenses with no intention of carrying out same. You have heard the evidence given by the plaintiff and witnesses in an effort to prove the allegations set out in the indictment. You have further heard the evidence produced by the defense. You are the sole judge as to whether or not the defendant is guilty of the charges brought. It is up to you to mete out the proper punishment. Our statutes provide that nothing more or less than a term of ninety-nine years be given the defendant herein, if he be found guilty of the offense with which he is accused. You will be asked to retire and make up your verdict, returning same to this court in writing, signed by the foreman of your jury."

"If any one present knows of any additional information which would throw light on the facts submitted for and in behalf of the plaintiff and the defendant, the floor is now tendered to you and you are hereby requested to express yourself freely. As judge of this court I am going to take the liberty of calling on some of you men and women who have been intimately associated with both of these parties over a period of years."

The jury retired for a minute and a half, returning its verdict to the judge, who read the following sentence:

"Irvin Willingham, you have been found guilty of the charges brought against you. It is my duty to sentence you to ninety-nine years of imprisonment. You are to be kept in the penitentiary, accompanied with prosperity and good health. May all of your troubles be little ones. May the love you have for this woman be justly deemed the fundamental principles that hold the universe together. May she reciprocate in all of your interests, attention and love at least ten fold. As you march down the stately corridor of time, may you look back with only one regret and that is that the time has been short and fleeting. As an evidence of your genuine sincerity, I further request you to embrace each other before this audience and that you bestow upon your fiancée a kiss of love and affection, and may the Good Lord bless you always."

Witnesses in the personages of an attractive group of the younger set were invited to the party by subpoenas issued by the hosts, with "prison rations" served at 7:30. The place cards were small dolls dressed in stripes and even wearing the ball and chain.

Mrs. John D. Evans Elected President of Fifth District

Mrs. John D. Evans was elected president of fifth district of Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs at the annual meeting held yesterday at Atlanta Woman's Club. Elected to second vice president, Mrs. Chester Martin; third vice president, Mrs. James T. McGovern; recording secretary, Mrs. H. L. Perryman; treasurer, Mrs. D. O. Coghill, and auditor, Mrs. C. W. Heery.

Mrs. Kate Green Hess was chairman of the nominating committee composed of Mesdames L. O. Freeman, Oscar Palmer, Roy Jones, S. F. Boykin and W. O. Hollingsworth. Mrs. P. J. McGovern, whom Mrs. Evans succeeds, presided at yesterday's session.

Constructive Leader. Mrs. Evans is an able and constructive leader whose well-earned honor is greatly deserved, because she has had more than 20 years of valuable and unlimited experience in many phases of club work. She is eminently qualified to assume the responsibilities that go with the presidency of the fifth district, the largest group of federated women in Georgia.

During the World War, Mrs. Evans was chairman of vacant lot gardens in Kirkwood Civic League, and served this organization as secretary. She was vice president of Perennial Garden Club and president of the Peony Garden Clubs; was secretary of DeKalb County Council of Parents and Teachers Association, and vice president and secretary of Fifth District of Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Evans held the chairmanship of problems in industry for Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, and served on the nominating committee when officers were elected last April at the state convention held in Augusta. As district chairman of Americanization and citizenship in cooperation with Mrs. Newton, wife of Atlanta, did outstanding work in the Better Homes contest which was credited with causing Atlanta to tie for first prize with Santa Barbara, Cal., in a national better homes contest.

She initiated the welcome ceremony to new citizens taking oath of allegiance and presented them with an American flag, this ceremony having been initiated in other sections. She was chairman for the Atlanta Woman's Club of Americanization and citizenship.

She is chairman of public welfare for the Atlanta Federation and belongs to the Rhododendron Club, DeKalb County Consumers Council and Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs. As an enthusiastic gardener, Mrs. Evans is much in demand as a judge at flower shows and as a speaker on horticultural subjects. Her garden is a credit to her ability and is enjoyed by her friends.

Mrs. Evans has lived in Atlanta for 30 years and is identified with civic, social, cultural and religious circles. Her interest in the progress and development of the city is manifested through the time and the support she gives to projects pertaining to the betterment of Atlanta. She filled the office of first and second vice president of Atlanta. She filled the office of first and second vice president of the fifth district, and during her term as first vice president, Mrs. Evans won the gavel offered the district for organizing and federating the largest number of clubs in Georgia Federation.

Mrs. Evans was born in Rome, the daughter of James Hendley Hoskinson, a well-known lawyer, and his wife Georgia Day Hoskinson, whose father, the late Judge Thomas Jefferson Davis was a relative of President Jefferson Davis, of the Confederacy. She was educated at Shorter College in Rome and is endowed with brilliant mentality. Mrs. Evans married John D. Evans, member of a prominent South Carolina family. Misses McDougall, Evans and Jacqueline Davis Evans are their attractive daughters and are enrolled at the University of Georgia in Athens.

Mrs. McGovern's Pledge. Upon accepting the presidency of the fifth district two years ago Mrs. Paul J. McGovern said: "Let us stand together as close as possible and 'do battle' for better mutual understanding, helpfulness and progress." That these objectives have been followed is shown by the high degree of cooperation for the common good obtained in the achievement of the fifth district clubwomen during the past two years.

During Mrs. McGovern's brilliant and successful regime 5,000 dogwood trees were planted on the streets and highways during the beautification program with the aid of the United States forestry service, the Civilian Conservation Corps, Works Progress Administration and the city of Atlanta. The program aroused high enthusiasm and participation in the state and district and was nationally acclaimed in the Clubwoman, G. F. W. C., official organ of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and by Major Bowes on "Atlanta Radio Night" over NBC and WSB.

Mrs. McGovern says: "With the cooperation of the Atlanta Journal, the 'Dogwood Seal' is evolved, advertising 'Atlanta, the Beautiful Dogwood City' and is a source of income for the federation school at Tallulah Falls as well as the individual clubwomen participating in the sale." The first year over 80,000 seals were sold, and a portion of the proceeds was voted by the clubs to be known as the "Germaine McGovern Scholarship" at Tallulah Falls school, an outstanding honor to the district president.

Co-operating with the DeKalb County Consumers' Council, of which Mrs. McGovern was chairman, the clubwomen successfully opposed the meat control bill presented the 1934 Georgia assembly, one of the provisions of which would have levied a 2-cent stamp tax on canned milk, working a hardship on those less able to absorb the added expense, thus further depriving already underprivileged children.

Recognized Achievements. In this same capacity Mrs. McGovern co-operated in a survey of the coal and milk needs of the district and promoted the study of problems affecting consumers, seeking to bring about greater understanding of the problems of industry and agriculture in relation to consumer requirements. Recognizing these achievements, Mrs. A. B. Conger, president Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, appointed Mrs. McGovern state chairman of problems in industry for two years.

"Home economics were stressed not only by study but by the planting of vegetable gardens and holding vegetable shows in connection with flower gardens and shows. A cooking school featuring local Georgia products and the handwork of local women was conducted in a local farmers' market."

The membership gavel for federating most clubs and the student aid cup were won by the district; the financial report showing the outstanding work done for Tallulah Falls school. Four regular and two called meetings of the district were held and Mrs. McGovern went to all state conventions, executive board of trustees' meetings. She attended the State Club Institute in Athens and wrote a splendid resume of the 1936 institute for the official club page in The Atlanta Constitution. Mrs. McGovern attended the general federation council meeting held in Miami last spring.

Mrs. Martin Heads T. E. L. Class. The T. E. L. Class of the Grant Park Baptist church held its annual banquet Tuesday, Rev. C. M. Altman, pastor, gave the invocation. Mrs. M. O. Campbell, the retiring president, presided, and Mrs. E. M. Altman, teacher, presented her silver vase from the class.

Others taking part on the program were Mrs. J. M. Johnson Jr., Mesdames J. B. Richardson, H. C. Hucksby, Charles Gilman, A. M. Leo, Misses Doris Milholland, Elizabeth Anderson, Frances Whitworth, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. King, A. C. Hopkins, superintendent of Grant Park Sunday school.

The following officers were elected: Mrs. E. M. Johnson Jr., Mesdames J. B. Richardson, H. C. Hucksby, Charles Gilman, A. M. Leo, Misses Doris Milholland, Elizabeth Anderson, Frances Whitworth, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. King, A. C. Hopkins, superintendent of Grant Park Sunday school.

Miss Meador Is Honored. Miss Fort Scott Meador, popular bride-elect, was complimented yesterday at two lovely parties. The first of these was the luncheon at which Mrs. Bannan Lesene was hostess at the Capital City Country Club. Covers were laid for the honoree, Mrs. Belle Meador, Elinor Smith, Nancy Keeler, Elizabeth Hancock, and O'Berne, Harriet Ann Baylor, Mesdames Lewis Little, Charles King, Marion Lowance, Temp Davis Jr., John Mooney, Ed Medlock, Frank Davis, Jim Williams, Alan Post, Robert Ramsey and the hostess.

Mrs. Ed Medlock honored Miss Meador at a tea at her apartment on Peachtree street. Mrs. Hughes Scott poured coffee. Thirty guests were invited to this lovely affair.

"Let Your Stars Guide You"

By BERNICE DENTON PIERSON, Foremost American Astrologer.

"One ship drives east and another drives west, with the self-same winds that blow; 'tis the set of the sails and not the gales which tell us the way to go."

"ATLANTA'S WHO'S WHO IN THE ZODIAC."

MRS. WILLARD MCBURNEY.

June 5 marks the natal day of Mrs. Willard MCBurney, president Young Matrons' Circle, Tallulah Falls school, and one of Atlanta's most popular and charming young matrons. This brings her birthdate under the influence of the zodiacal sign Gemini.

The third sign of the zodiac and is the sign of versatility, quickness, adaptability, inventive genius. Mercury is the ruler of the sign.

A chart set for this interesting birthdate endows her with unusual individuality, the ability to merit and receive high honors. She will rise to the heights through her own innate ability, hard work and leadership.

The Saturn-Uranus position tends to strengthen the will. It gives integrity, an honest, upright nature, with broad views and conceptions. Neptune transits side in the vision and incentive to realize hopes, wishes, ambitions.

Her progressed chart shows that regardless of what she has already accomplished, there are greater honors in store for her.

You can get your complete astrological forecast through The Constitution, compiled by Bernice Denton PierSON, one of America's best-known astrologers. All you have to do is fill in the information on the enclosed self-addressed, stamped envelope, together with 10 cents in coin to cover the mailing list. TARZAN AND THE MAYAN GODDESS No. 84

Raglan was astonished by the ease with which Tarzan had swooped down and disarmed him. But he concealed his alarm under a suave exterior. "It is a pleasure to meet you again, Lord Grey-stoke," he smiled, "though I can't say I care for your manner of greeting."

Tarzan turned cold eyes on the man who had come on the same ship with him to Guatemala. "Where is the document?" he demanded. "Give it to me!" "What document?" "The chart to the Lost City—the chart you stole!" Raglan assumed a role of injured innocence.

"Search me, if you like," Tarzan shook his head. He knew by this invitation that Raglan must have concealed the document. Anger surged in the heart of the usually calm ape-man. He must have that chart to find his friend D'Arnot. Nothing else mattered.

His hands flew out and clutched Raglan's throat. "Give me that document, or I'll throttle you!" he threatened. Then an angry voice sounded behind him—the voice of Ula Dale. "Lord Grey-stoke, what are you doing to Mr. Raglan? He's our friend, not our enemy!"
